SIRINYA SURINA,

Petitioner,

Case No. 17-3-01817-0

and

Declaration of Annette Sanburn

AARON SURINA,

Respondent.

I Declare: My name is Annette Sanburn. I was David's teacher last year. Mr. Surina enrolled David with some concerns over David's socializing ability. David definitely needed some socializing. He was smart but had a hard time assimilating. If I said anything that was in the negative, such as "It is not time to talk," David would start crying. This is not typical. However, he progressed very quickly and was doing very well by the end of the year.

Ms. Surina would be the one who usually picked up and dropped off David, which wasn't odd as I usually see one parent primarily doing that. However, I would say that Aaron seemed more involved than many parents I have seen. He too would pick up or drop off, I assumed as his work allowed. Aaron throughout the year always expressed interest in how David was doing. It was common for him to ask me questions and stay involved. David was always very happy to see his dad, and I would often hear stories of their adventures together. Overall, I got along with both parents and loved having David in my class.
