Tuition fees Andrew & David

We have had a bill for David and Andrew to enroll in school that we have to catch up with.

Going forward, I think tuition fees are going to be 950/month. I'm going to need to get a budget planner for the kids to do this.

What do you think?

I asked Keith to pay the outstanding tuition fees to enroll for the next year.

Aaron Surina on 7/12/2019 at 8:44:46 AM said:

So after listening to David cry asking me to come to pick him up, you said that he is fine, minimizing his pain right in front of him, tears and all, deducing he has absolutely nothing to cry about and that he's not physically hurt.

That just happened on the day phone. He was sobbing and you became angry immediately.

Sirinya viewed this subject on 7/12/2019 at 8:50:12 AM

Aaron Surina on 7/12/2019 at 8:52:16 AM said:

I asked earlier about picking up the boys at 230 but you said you don't want to message on the app anymore because you don't have time to. You had not seen my request earlier today because you have decided that you would not have time for any request or update about the boys. I feel like any interaction with regards to our children is a burden to you. I have been waiting on this lawsuit situation you have been working on and hoping for a great outcome. I don't know what you are doing, what you even want is a mystery. I am not able to guess anything, I am not able to get to the place where you and I have a shared vision for the future of our children. To make the most of whatever it is we are left to start over with.

If you have a problem with talking to me, let's nip it in the bud and I am happy to help with this request to make you happy. Let's get David a phone, I'll pay for the service. I have given David 3 phones. One you took and gave to your mom. Two have apparently been stolen from friends you allowed to come to the house I guess since you don't know where they are. One was a brand new bright yellow Nokia not a smart phone 📱 and the other one was the black apple iPhone 4S from work which vanished from David once you took it from him. That's 3 phones I have purchased or Work loaned me the. Black one and none are available. I can buy one for his birthday but not a smart phone cause I don't have enough money to buy it. I'm waiting for you to pay your portion for family support which has grown to over 10,000 dollars since you have had nearly 100,000 dollars available but you choose to fund your attack instead of our children. I can't find the attack because I have to put my kids first 🙏👨👩👧👦.

I'm still waiting for the black laptop to review my files and make copies of the documents to review for the case but it has not been Available... Today is a good time if it works for you guys

I know Keith already has went to a computer friend who has went and searched for amazon business stuff.

I don't think I need more than 10 minutes to get my Android app keys so I can unlock and work on my apps again. I have not been able to write an app since the day you arrived to America. I'm still here and I'm going to be home for a few then I'm heading back to the hospital to meet my friends for dinner tonight so I'll be around if you're going to let me get my laptop java keys and start my app work back up. I don't think I have ever been paid for a long time and did such little work.

I was waiting for y'all to get to come over to the USA us so I worked on 30 apps to get the money ☹ it was my last great project I did. The java keys are required for changing the apps.

Can I swing by and copy the files to a thumb drive usb? I'm hoping today works since I've asked numerous times for access to it and the court ordered to be able to access the family computer even if you want to use it ...which is not a problem with me.

I have a work laptop

You played the old timers better than anyone I've ever seen. They have been fighting to get some money for the house and they don't know what they want.

I just found all the emails you sent me when I return to America after zac and I were there with fern and cross fade ... remember fern and remember jack and dan and yoya haha that was a great time.

I found my videos on the trip with my friends from the Netherlands where they rented the house and the pool. We always have a lot of fun in Thailand TH

If you want it, I don't have a problem being nice and trading my stuff for my stuff but I'm not sure what you want.

You can be cool about the silly things but that's not my choice either way.

I have a lot of documents including my java keys which are required to update each android app. That's money you have a piece of someday. All the apps are off the market for out of code compliance. I finished the last one before heading back to Thailand

I'm off work and enjoying the day. I can come pickup anytime you are ready.

Let me know what works for you.

Also, I have a question:

Why didn't you call an ambulance or 911 when you saw the blood all over like you said on the phone? Did you ever think about it?

Maybe the other adults living in this house?

Thanks!

You seemed like you were upset because I called an ambulance and emergency services arrived.

You called and said Andrew was suffering from a direct blow to his head, bloody including his hands covered in blood and you were concerned about the situation. I told you I'm leaving the hospital and I called for an ambulance.

Clearly not what you would have done.

What would you have done?

I'm not sure what the right thing to do is if I was not understanding what you had in mind.

There was no blame on you, I was not there, to see him injured.

I was trying to have your back. Next thing you're telling Keith you want him to attack with court action., is
