In re: Contempt of Child Support order

Petitioner/s

SIRINYA SURINA

And Respondent/s

AARON SURINA

No. 17-3-01817-0

Respondent's

Affidavit of Truth in support of motion for contempt

(DCLR)

Respondent's Affidavit of Truth

1. I am 46 years old and I am the Respondent.
2. I declare:

I, Aaron Surina, Respondent in this matter and competent to testify on these matters, do intentionally submit this affidavit in support of my motion for contempt against the petitioner, Sirinya Surina (Polarj), with the utmost respect to the court.

I. Background

1. The court, in its wisdom, issued the "December 20, 2019 orders" that mandated compliance by the petitioner to provide respondent with annual tax exemptions for our children, Andrew and David.
2. I have consistently sought the petitioner's cooperation in adhering to these orders, which specify compliance with tax exemptions unless there is a court-approved modification based on a greater financial benefit which there has never been any motion for the court to review and order a modification; At least to the best of my knowledge and belief there has not been any hearing on these matters to date.

II. Financial Impact Due to Non-Compliance

1. In 2020, the petitioner's non-compliance denied me access to stimulus payments and Child Tax Credit (CTC) payments.
 - The amounts in stimulus and child tax credits for 2020 are public knowledge and as such, the stimulus and ctc forced Loss (2020): $7,800
2. In 2021, the petitioner's non-compliance persisted, preventing me from receiving stimulus payments and CTC payments.
 - The credits and stimulus increased in 2021, even if the petitioner claimed a child in this year, I still took a loss that was not awarded prior to June 23, 2023 where the petitioner was granted 2021 which the respondent feels that the court was rather generous in that gift without her providing any financials and her fight to keep the child support as if she has no income and the parenting plan as if she's a stay at home mother. My basic CTC and stimulus forced Loss (2021): $14,600
3. In 2022, the petitioner continued to defy court orders, resulting in similar financial losses that mirror those of 2021, including missed CTC payments.
 - CTC and stimulus respondent has not seen or shows as a Loss (2022): $14,600

4. When I take a step back and realize the amount of money being stolen, conned, pilfered or otherwise prevented from the rightful claimant the court intended to have this incentive which is and has been the respondent. 14,600 + 14,600 + 7,800 is what the respondent is asking judgement for. Those figures are fairly easy to validate and as such the respondent feels they are reasonably assessed in loss based on the tax laws, the income withholding order and anything else available.
5. The petitioner has brand new camaro's, brand new dodge hemi truck, a 565,000 dollar house she just purchased with cash. She has plenty of money for her lifestyle, but supporting her children is not a priority in her lifestyle and that is evidenced by her historical decision making and choices to abandon her responsibilities and tell everyone and anyone that her ex husband has to pay.

III. Unreimbursed Medical Expenses and Child Support

1. Beyond the financial losses outlined above, the petitioner has not contributed to the financial support of our children as required by the child support order. Consequently, I have this almost child like ex spouse that has her hand out as if it's assumed the financial responsibility of an additional household is something that I have to take on, as an indentured servant / servitude including unreimbursed medical expenses.

IV. Petitioner's Intent and Actions

1. It is clear that the petitioner's primary objective has been to maximize financial gain, notably through child support, often at the expense of our children's welfare.

2. The petitioner has repeatedly demonstrated non-compliance with court orders and a willful disregard for our children's well-being, prioritizing her financial interests above all else.

Criminal account activity found in recent credit review matching identity theft 2 weeks before divorce was filed in Washington.

I'd also like to humbly bring forth a matter of great significance before this honorable court, seeking its intervention and guidance to put an end to a prolonged period of turmoil that has affected not only my life but also the lives of my two beloved sons, Andrew and David.

I. Unauthorized Access and Impersonation

1. I recently discovered that my former spouse, Sirinya Surina has taken unauthorized actions that involve her using my personal information, including adding her cell phone number to my accounts. This unauthorized access extended to interactions on my behalf, changes to my healthcare account address, and the inclusion of her cell phone for multi-factor authentication.
2. These actions have caused great concern and turmoil in my life, and I believe they go beyond the bounds of legality and ethics.

II. The Six-Year Struggle

1. This matter has persisted for an extended period, spanning six years, during which both parties have engaged in a prolonged divorce process driven by financial gain.

2. The intricate understanding of the legal system displayed by both parties has sometimes overshadowed the actual substance of the issues at hand.

III. A Plea for Judicial Intervention

I beseech this honorable court to wield the gavel of authority and order a resolution to this ongoing turmoil. My earnest plea is for:

1. A judgment that prioritizes the well-being and stability of our children, Andrew and David which would award the stolen tax exemptions / credits as well as any expired stimulus money that I no longer can obtain because of the petitioner's intentional and forced loss
2. A resolution on custody and decision-making but that ensures a safe and nurturing environment for our sons.
3. An end to the chaos that has persisted for too long and a return to a semblance of normalcy for all involved.

In making this plea, I do so with the utmost respect for this court's ability to uphold the principles of justice, fairness, and the best interests of our children.

V. Conclusion

I thank this court for its diligent consideration of this matter and for providing a platform for resolution and justice. My only wish is for an end to this period of uncertainty and upheaval, allowing my children and I to move forward with our lives in a stable and nurturing environment.

I respectfully request that the court consider this affidavit as irrefutable evidence of the petitioner's continuous non-compliance with the December 20, 2019 orders, which has resulted in substantial financial losses and additional responsibilities for me. I implore the court to grant the contempt motion to enforce compliance with the court's orders and ensure the best interests of our children are upheld.

Respectfully submitted,

Aaron M. Surina / Spokane, Washington
